

Filipino-American talents Dominate an Asian-American Production of Mamma Mia

Casts of Mamma Mia with LA PCG ladies and other guests.

07 June 2019, Los Angeles – East West Players produced “Mamma Mia”, an internationally acclaimed Broadway show featuring ABBA songs. Although “Mamma Mia” is a western fiction story, characters were mainly played by Asians with Filipino-Americans as protagonists. The production likewise creatively infused Philippine cultural elements such as the folk dance “Tinikling” and the “Barong Tagalog” fashion.

In the show attended by LA PCG personnel, the theater was jam-packed with members of the Filipino community who gave a standing ovation for the impressive performance of the casts. (Photo left)

East West Players is an Asian-American theater in Los Angeles founded in 1965, committed to promote Asian culture in Southern California. END.